Polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE) is a synthetic fluoropolymer of tetrafluoroethylene that has numerous applications. The best known brand name of PTFE-based formulas is Teflon by Chemours. Chemours is a 2015 spin-off of DuPont Co., which discovered the compound in 1938.. PTFE is a fluorocarbon solid, as it is a high-molecular-weight compound consisting wholly of carbon and fluorine.

Cloud seeding is a type of weather modification that aims to change the amount or type of precipitation that falls from clouds by dispersing substances into the air that serve as cloud condensation or ice nuclei, which alter the microphysical processes within the cloud. The usual intent is to increase precipitation (rain or snow), but hail and fog suppression are also widely practised in ...

For the seedless method, one of the advantages is easily to scale up. As shown in Fig. 1a, the yield of small gold nanorods can be synthesized >600 mL at one time with a gold ion concentration of 2.5 mM. Transmission electron microscopy (TEM) is used to examine the morphology and the particle size of the small gold nanorods obtained from this large scale seedless method.

A resurgence of interest has propelled PCL back into the biomaterials/arena with the birth of a new field, namely tissue engineering; a trend which is depicted graphically in Fig. 1. This huge resurgence of interest during the 1990s and 2000s has stemmed from the realization that PCL possesses superior rheological and viscoelastic properties over many of its resorbable-polymer counterparts ...

Trophoblast cells are specialized cells in the placenta that mediate the interactions between the fetus and mother. Okae et al. report the derivation of human trophoblast stem cells from blastocysts and early placentas, which will provide a powerful tool to study human placental development and function.
